Enroll in FSU's Global Citizenship Certificate, Gain Global Perspectives

FSU's Global Citizenship Certificate prepares undergraduate students for the new challenges of living and working in an increasingly globalized world through a combination of academic courses and intercultural experiences.

Enrolled students must take Global Perspectives, the certificate's required course that explores global issues and helps build intercultural competencies; choose three elective courses from an approved list of 500+ liberal studies courses; attend eight intercultural events; and complete one sustained intercultural experience domestically or abroad.

"The Global Citizenship Certificate is a pathway to learn about the world and cultures within it," Dr. Tanu Kohli Bagwe, Acting GCC Program Director and Teaching Faculty. "Through coursework, intercultural events, and sustained experiences, we guide students in taking charge of their intercultural competence development. Each experience in the certificate serves to develop a holistic, interlinked set of skills needed to become an empathetic individual, a critical thinker, and an advocate for multiculturalism and inclusion."

This semester, 100 FSU students taking the Global Perspectives course benefit from active intercultural engagement and learning with Brazilian students through FSU's Collaborative Online International Learning (COIL) partnership with The Technology College of Americana (FATEC) in São Paulo, Brazil.

Through a combination of intercultural contacts and active reflection, the COIL initiative helps Global Perspectives students gain essential cross-cultural skills and global competencies while meeting several of FSU's liberal studies requirements.

"Taking the course Global Perspectives in combination with completing the Global Citizenship Certificate has widened my perspective of the world as a whole," said Christopher Jafet, FSU junior studying commercial entrepreneurship. "Having the chance to exercise my skills in intercultural communication is the main benefit I have seen from being involved in these activities. The knowledge and experience I have gained through this process are priceless. I would highly recommend it to those interested!"

CGE Staff Highlight

Well known on campus as 'Chef Jesse,' The Globe Building Manger, Jesse O'Reilly, is an essential member of the CGE's staff with 10+ years of service.

Jesse works directly with FSU students, faculty, and staff to provide top-notch service and support for accessing space for classes and events. He recruits a diverse staff to manage the customer service functions of the building, guest services, and the culinary team. In addition, Jesse is involved with larger Division of Student Affairs initiatives, always eager to provide support to his colleagues.

Jesse has served as a professional chef for 20+ years, and he is interested in the history behind different international foods and how cuisines and techniques have developed over centuries and traveled around the world.

"I like learning about these things so that I can be more creative with the foods that I make," Jesse said. "I am a people person, and learning about international foods and how cuisines and techniques have developed around the world helps me to connect with people and make friends."

Become a Global Ambassador

The Global Ambassadors Program (GAP) gives international students and visiting scholars at FSU the opportunity to be cultural ambassadors.

Global Ambassadors engage in speaking opportunities throughout Tallahassee and present to community organizations, K-12 students, and FSU students. They have the opportunity to develop their public speaking and presentation skills in English, meet new people, and use the experience on their resume. We encourage FSU's international community of students, scholars, and faculty with questions to attend an info session on September 28 at 1 p.m. or September 29 at 10 a.m. in The Globe Room 2600.

CGE Student Spotlight

Arria Hauldin
Global Citizenship Certificate
Alumna,
Bachelor's in Anthropology, Class of 2020

Arria Hauldin – Global Citizenship Certificate and FSU alumna with a bachelor's in anthropology – currently serves as an AmeriCorps VISTA member in the state of New Hampshire with a focus on COVID-19 recovery in the local community.

In her role, Hauldin works with Campus Compact New Hampshire, a national coalition of colleges and universities striving to ensure access and equity in higher education through community service and civic involvement.

Hauldin credits the Global Citizenship Certificate program with making her a more competitive applicant as she applied for jobs after graduation. Her involvement in GCC was a core focus of her interviews.

“A lot of my passions and work revolve around service, both international and domestic, and the GCC helps showcase my unique set of skills while also serving as a great conversation opener during interviews,” Hauldin said. “It showed that I am dedicated to intercultural learning beyond the classroom and that I continually strive for cultural competency in my professional and personal environments.”
