The Globe Auditorum

Final Spring Engage Your World on Thursday, April 18

Eugenie Mukeshimana will talk about her personal experiences during the 1994 Genocide Against the Tutsis in Rwanda, the impact it continues to have on survivors 25 years later, and how education is the key to preventing such atrocities. The event will take place on Thursday, April 18, in The Globe Auditorium. Join us for a reception with refreshments at 4:30 p.m.; the talk will begin at 5 p.m.

Mukeshimana is the founder and executive director of Genocide Survivors Support Network, which helps survivors rebuild their lives, and it advocates for the prevention of genocide through education. She currently serves on UNHCR, the UN Refugee Agency's Refugee Congress, as an honorary delegate representing the State of Maryland.

The talk is open to the public and co-sponsored by the Center for Advancement of Human Rights and honors the Center for Leadership and Social Change's Diversity Week.
